Warsaw Builds, No War Fears

John Gunther depicts the rebuilding of Warsaw, still a ruin but "the liveliest capital in Europe."

By JOHN GUNTHER

Let me drop politics and personalities, except by implication, in this article, and attempt simply to describe the city of Warsaw instead. Warsaw today might well be called the most phenomenal sight in Europe.

First, two blunt figures. Eighty-four per cent of all buildings in this great city, the capital of Poland, were rendered uninhabitable during the war. Not merely "damaged," mind you. But "rendered uninhabitable." And Warsaw, the population of which was 1,300,000 in 1939, lost during the war approximately 700,000 dead. Some appreciation of the enormity of this figure may be gained from the fact that the total war dead of Great Britain and the United States together was only about 555,000. Warsaw, just the city, lost 700,000 killed; the entire United States lost roughly 310,000.

One Pole we met put it this way with bitter vigor, "You in the West may have the highest standard of living in the world. We Poles have the highest standard of death."

Poles Show Animation

But the point I am hoping to make is not the frightfulness of the destruction we saw in Warsaw, indubitably frightful as that is. The real point is the remarkable success of the Poles in rebuilding their city, the massive energy and zip they have put to the job, and the electric animation and effervescence they seem to show. Warsaw is a ruin. But it is the liveliest capital in Europe.

Take Berlin by comparison. Berlin has about as much vitality as a mass of putty. The very grass has grown over the streetcar tracks on Kurfurstendamm. People walk slowly, with hunched and sagging shoulders; an almost suffocating dreariness hangs over the community; the food shops are scraped bare; except for the pulsating throb of air lift planes overhead, the city seems almost soundless. And I found much the same sort of deadness in Frankfurt, Vienna and, in a different political category, Prague.

But Warsaw! It bounces, hums and buzzes. Clouds of dust envelop the passersby. Buildings are going down and coming up. The streets are jammed, the hotels and restaurants are full to bursting. Food is cheap, good and plentiful, and the shops are tolerably well stocked, though many commodities are of inferior grade. The people are poor—no one would attempt to deny that—but they are rising out of their own ruins by their own efforts, which helps to give them their morale.

Most Poles Hate Russia

Not for a moment would I suggest that the exclusive reason for this is the character of the Polish government. Most Poles hate Russia, and they would not go through the terrific adventure of rebuilding Warsaw for Moscow's sake. The deeper reasons are the buoyant Polish temperament, Polish tradition, Polish history and Polish romanticism.

"Poland has been destroyed four times. Very well! Let's create it all over again, and make it better and make it last!" This, in a phrase, expresses the Warsaw spirit. These people are not cowed like the Czechs. They are alive, tenacious, almost gay in the midst of tragedy, and going places, if history will let them.

There is plenty of discontent and opposition, of course. Only a fool would deny that. Conversely, very few signs of overt pressure are manifest. I talked to an American who bitterly hated the regime. He said, "There is no arbitrary use of police power here. The government is detestable, but there are no concentration camps or terrorism. This is the freest of the satellite states. You can go around pretty much as you please."

Landmarks Are Gone

We arrived at dusk, and took a walk after dinner. I was stunned. I knew Warsaw fairly well before the war. The destruction was so great that I could not find my way to the simplest objectives. Almost all the landmarks I remembered, like the Foreign Office, have completely disappeared. For mile after mile the city looks like a gutted moon.

In Berlin, if you stand near Brandenburg Gate, you can at least see the outline of what buildings once were. There, you say to yourself, are the remains of the Hotel Adlon; there is the skeleton of a house I dined in once, there is what was the French Embassy. But in Warsaw it is impossible over large areas to identify any buildings at all, or even to see where street intersections were, because the ruin is total, the destruction is complete.

The worst area is the Ghetto, which is literally a heap of rubble. It looks like an empty rocky lot. A few straggly weeds, bearing a few pathetically valiant flowers, grow on what was once the busiest section of the city, and a clump of dusty bushes has sprouted out over the area where the biggest synagogue in Europe once stood. Grass grows again. Human beings do not. And never let it be forgotten that of the

U.S. Jet Bomber Makes 614 M.P.H. Across Country

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Air Force jet bomber today covered a 2,389-mile course here from the Moses Lake air base, Wash., in three hours, 46 minutes. This was an average speed of 614 miles an hour.

The six-engine, swept-wing bomber streaked over the Andrews (M.D.) base at 11:08 a.m. PST. It had taken off from Moses Lake at 7:22 a.m. PST.

No official record was set since the course is not the recognized transcontinental contest route.

The official course is from the Los Angeles area to the New York area. The record of four hours and 13 minutes was set two years ago by a Lockheed F-80 Shooting Star.

The army bomber which made today's flight is the Boeing XB-47 Stratojet. On Landing, the pilot released a brilliant parachute from the tail as an airbrake.

RECENTLY ANNOUNCED

This unusual method of slowing down jet planes for landing was disclosed by the air force only a few days ago.

Traditional Grandeur Marks Opening Of Session Today

The fourth regular session of the Provincial Legislature opened here this afternoon amid the traditional grandeur of the city's outstanding social event of the year.

The ceremony was complete with a 100-member naval guard of honor, naval band, army salute force, boy scouts, hand-somely dressed women guests and the socially prominent men.

Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks stepped from his car at the steps of the Parliament Buildings at 3 and the 15-gun salute roared across the Inner Harbor from four 25-pound artillery pieces drawn up on the causeway. After inspecting his guard of honor he proceeded up the great granite steps of the Parliament Buildings to be met by Premier Byron Johnson.

In the assembly hall there were seated 400 guests, including leading figures in the church, education, legal, government, industrial and political life of the province, along with a few foreign consuls and other representatives of foreign governments.

The 48-member legislative assembly will get down to business Wednesday as A. J. McDonell, Coalition, Vancouver Centre, opens the Throne Speech debate.

Revenue Surplus Around $6,000,000

The B.C. government revenue surplus during the 1947-48 fiscal year actually was about $6,000,000 more than that shown in the public accounts tabled in the Legislature this afternoon.

The reason is that the government actually received only three of its four quarterly payments from the federal government for rent of the income tax fields to the federal government. The three payments totaled $15,216,560 for the income tax fields. With the other federal grants the total paid was $16,220,400.

The government had apparently expected to receive four payments for it budgeted for $21,857,680.

Actually, in the public accounts the surplus for the year is shown at $3,602,042.

Aid For Fishermen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill aimed at stabilizing the price of fish to the producer—our fishermen—was introduced by Senator Magnuson (D, Wash.) today.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY

I HAVE JUST BEEN studying an illuminating article on women in Canadian industry, published in a recent bulletin of the research department of the Canadian Congress of Labor. It summarizes the findings of a survey made, not by the C.C.L. but by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, of the earnings and hours of work of male and female employees in manufacturing firms employing 15 or more persons.

And although the data on which it was based relates to the final week of November, 1946, it reflects, in the main, today's relationship between the earnings of men and women in factories.

WIDE DISCREPANCY

SO I NOTED WITH interest—and regret—its revelation that there is still a wide discrepancy between the wages of the two groups, one particular group of selected industries paying average weekly wages from 40 to 117 per cent higher to men than to women.

However, for the benefit of those who are prone to belittle British Columbia's place in the economic sun, it may be enlightening to point out that, according to D.B.S. authorities, male earnings in industry are higher in this province than any other, averaging about $38.50 per week.

At the same time, this province also pays the highest wages to women factory workers, averaging around $23 per week, according to the report. The Maritimes come at the lowest end of the provincial scale, men being paid $33.58 and $33.90 in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, respectively, and women $17.16 and $17.18.

MORE MALE WORKERS

BECAUSE OF THE tendency of some people to view with alarm the increasing number of women holding jobs, it may also be well to point out that, in the industrial field at any rate, over 75 per cent of Canadian earners are male.

Here again, I notice that Saskatchewan has the largest proportion of male workers to female—88 per cent—and British Columbia is second, with 86.2, while Quebec has the smallest, 71.3 per cent.

As the Bulletin points out, the summary brings home that the principle of equal pay for equal work is too often disregarded. And the trade unions themselves recognize that equal pay affords men a greater measure of job security.

BRANCHING OUT

THOSE CANADIAN FINDINGS lent additional significance to another report I have just read in summarized form. Issued by the U.S. Government women's bureau, it is entitled: "Women's Occupations Through Seven Decades."

This survey shows how far women have encroached on male preserves since the day when nursing, teaching and housemaking were considered their occupational limits. The First Great War jured her into the factory; the Second World War riveted her there, and she became a welder, a lathe operator, a blast-top furnaceman.

DECLINE IN AUTHORS

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, by 1940, there were, in the United States, 217 women sailors or deckhands, 131 grade-crossing watchmen or bridge-tenders, 272 blacksmiths, forgers or hammermen, 1,225 managers or owners of liquor stores, 506 masons or tilesetters, 96 loom-fixers, 1,717 paperhangers, 128 roofers.

The same authority quotes a decline of women in some professions. For instance, only 4,606 women called themselves authors in 1940. In 1930, there were 5,393. Women dentists fell off, too, from 1,338 to 1,067.

WAR TO BLAME

WHILE THOSE FIGURES apply to the United States, there is little doubt that the march of the woman worker in Canada has been just as steady—and war is largely to blame. So stuffy characters who think every woman's place is in the home and not out earning her living—irrespective of whether circumstances force her to work for wages or not—had better do all they can to keep the nation out of war!

John Gunther

3,500,000 Polish Jews who lived in this country before the war, not less than three million were murdered by the Germans. The total number of Jews surviving in Poland today is only between 70,000 and 80,000.

Piecemeal Rebuilding

In other parts of the city—not the Ghetto, which is beyond any possible hope of restoration—we watched the work of rebuilding. The old bricks are used in the new structures, which gives a crazy patchwork effect. Hundreds of houses are only half rebuilt; as soon as a single room is habitable, people move in. I never saw anything more striking than the way a few pieces of timber shore up a broken heap of stone or brick, so that a kind of perch-like room is made available to a family, high over crumbling ruins. One end of a small building may be a heap of dust; at the other you will see curtains in the windows.

Every Pole I met was almost violent with hope. "See that?" a cabinet minister pointed to something that looked like a smashed gully. "In 20 years that will be our Champs Elysee."

Much of this furious reconstruction is done by voluntary labor; most, moreover, is done by the human hand. In all Warsaw, there are not more than two or three concrete mixers and three or four electric hoists; in all Warsaw, not one bulldozer! A gang of men climb up a wall, fix an iron hook on the end of a rope to the topmost bricks, climb down again, and pull. Presto!—the wall crashes. Then the same distorted bricks go into what is going up. No time for fancy masonry!

No Red Flags

There are some strange juxtapositions in this bizarre Warsaw of today. This is a Communist-dominated country. But I paused for a long moment before a well-stocked Catholic bookshop selling only religious works. This is a country supposed to be run by severe standards of economic logic. But near my hotel were big posters advertising a national lottery. Never once in Warsaw, incidentally, did I see a red flag, a photograph of Stalin or a Russian soldier.

In 1945 the city was totally without water, transportation, gas, power lines, a sewage system or electricity. Hardly a cat was alive. The government, having made the heroic decision to rebuild Warsaw instead of establishing a new capital at Lodz, got to work. The first phase was clearing up the wreckage, getting a bridge across the Vistula and restoring the public services. The second was reconstruction of buildings capable of being reconstructed. Buildings damaged beyond repair are destroyed. The third, in progress now, is construction of new elements of the city according to strict plan.

We walked down the main shopping streets one morning—they are rebuilt with one-story lath-and-plaster shacks resembling those of a Wild West town—and looked at goods and prices. The great shortages are in clothing (because almost everybody's wardrobe was destroyed) and leather (because almost all the cattle were slaughtered). Most prices were very steep, but the variety of merchandise available was much greater than in Belgrade, Frankfurt or Vienna.

Girl's Sweater $42.50

We saw a girl's sweater at 47,800 zloty ($42.50 at the legal rate of exchange), a silver bracelet at the same price, lipsticks at 525 ($1.32), a coarse soap at 90 (22 cents), a cake, a brand of California apricots at 185 a can (46 cents), a muskrat coat at 750,000 ($1,870), a basket of cut roses at 5,700 ($14.25), a pair of men's shoes at 19,000 ($47.50) and an American fountain pen at 2,500 ($6.25). Incidentally, Warsaw was the only Iron Curtain capital we saw where American name-brand cigarettes were freely available (at a price), British magazines and French luxury products.

But to revert to the main theme of this article—the rehabilitation of Warsaw after ruin. One of my Polish friends snapped, "War? If we thought war was coming, do you think we'd have bothered to rebuild our capital?"

Tomorrow, in his seventh article, Mr. Gunther describes Czechoslovakia.

Union With Newfoundland Given Approval In Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation providing for Newfoundland's union with Canada appeared today to be assured of a safe and comparatively easy passage through the Commons.

Although there may be some arguments on details of the terms of union, leaders of the major parties in the House made it clear Monday that they approve of the island's entry into Confederation as the 10th province.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, initiating debate on the resolution to the union bill, said confederation with Newfoundland had been made "inevitable" both by geography and by historic developments. He hoped the House would demonstrate "as a lesson to the whole world on what can be accomplished by men of good will."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said: "Speaking on behalf of all members of the Progressive Conservative Party in this House, I wish to welcome the introduction of such measures as will complete this union upon terms satisfactory to the people of Newfoundland and to the people of Canada."

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said his party joined in welcoming Newfoundland to Confederation. Newfoundland's natural wealth and the sterling quality of her people would make her doubly welcome.

Spion Low, Social Credit leader, said he supported the principle of the government's confederation resolution "without any qualification." Both Canada and Newfoundland were bound to gain much from the union.

Other speakers in the debate Monday included Defence Minister Claxton, A. M. Nicholson, C.C.F., Mackenzie, Sask.; G. H. Castleden, C.C.F., Yorkton, Sask.; and Clarie Gillis, C.C.F., Cape Breton South.

When the debate was resumed this afternoon the bill was up for second reading or adoption in principle. It was given first reading after Mr. Gillis had concluded his speech.

Also given first reading was a bill amending various federal statutes to make them applicable to Newfoundland upon union.

TWO VISITORS LISTEN
Among those who listened to Monday's debate from the gallery were Joseph R. Smallwood, who was largely responsible for bringing the island into Confederation, and Peter Cashin, one of the island's most outspoken opponents of confederation. They sat side by side in the diplomatic gallery.

Mr. St. Laurent reviewed at length the events leading up to the final series of negotiations that ended with the signing of the terms of agreement last Dec. 11.

He noted that in the second Newfoundland referendum, as between confederation and responsible government, the former had been favored by a vote of 78,323 to 71,334. Confederation got 52.34 per cent of the vote. In the vote, 18 of Newfoundland's 25 electoral districts registered themselves as favoring union.

Mr. St. Laurent noted that the target date for completion of the agreement was March 31. It would have to be approved by Parliament and the island government, and also would have to be confirmed by the United Kingdom parliament.

MARGARINE QUESTION

Mr. Drew suggested that Parliament should consider removing from the confederation instrument the provision that Newfoundland could continue the use of oleomargarine as in the past, regardless of the Dairy Industry Act which at the time of signing barred oleo from Canada.

Since that time, the Supreme Court of Canada had ruled that the act was invalid as regards manufacture and sale, though valid as to banning importation.

Mr. Drew said a "very important principle" was involved in the inclusion of that section. If accepted, it might apply to other items of trade and commerce with serious consequences.

Goodbye To Snow

The rains came . . . and the weatherman says the temperature is going to stay on the "credit" side of the 32 degrees freezing marks which means goodbye snow!

Precipitation recorded at the Gonzales Observatory overnight was not much—0.2 inches—but it at least did not coat the ground in the city.

Outlying areas got a little more snow, but it was melting in the comparatively warm temperatures brought by a southwesterly wind.

The thermometer is expected to rise to 42 degrees Wednesday which is the highest forecast for Victoria in many weeks. The predicted low tonight is 32 degrees.

Guard Of Honor Rehearses For Ceremony

A naval guard of honor for Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks at the opening of the Provincial Legislature this afternoon was put through its final rehearsal at H.M.C.S. Naden this morning. Later the guard, accompanied by the naval band, will parade through Victoria streets to the Parliament Buildings.

Chamber Directors Divided Over Port Authority Plan

A draft of proposed legislation for the creation of a three-man port authority in Victoria met with a mixture of strong disapproval and strong support at a directors' meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce this morning.

The proposed act, drawn up by the chamber's harbor development committee, was submitted to directors by George Paulin, committee chairman, for their approval. Little if any opposition was expected.

Les Bing and H. B. Elworthy, however, were definitely opposed to the act put before them.

Mr. Bing, speaking first, said statements given in the committee's report as reasons for having a harbor authority created were not strictly fact.

One reason given by the committee was that no body exists representing Victoria and Esquimalt to deal with Federal and Provincial governments concerning harbor matters.

Mr. Bing challenged this. "That is not a statement of fact," he said. "There is the Port Warden and the Department of Public Works."

Another reason given by the committee in favor of establishing a harbor authority was that there is no body regularly and systematically investigating the condition of the harbor floor. This was also disputed by Mr. Bing.

"Work is being done by the Federal government right now in cleaning up the floor of the harbor," he said.

A DRASTIC CLAUSE

Commenting on one clause in the proposed act, which stated the port authority would have the right to regulate and control the use and development of all land, docks, wharves and buildings on the waterfront, Mr. Bing said, "That's a very drastic clause and I don't like it at all."

Another clause, giving the port authority the right to construct, acquire, purchase or lease railways within the boundaries of the port, drew the comment from Mr. Bing: "I should imagine the C.P.R. would have something to say about that."

Still another clause, enabling the port authority to expropriate land without the owners' consent, caused Mr. Bing to observe: "We're not in Russia yet."

H. B. Elworthy, taking the same side as Mr. Bing, said he didn't like any part of the act, and would do all he could to stop it from going through.

"This should be thrown out—rejected right now," he told the meeting. "I contend this act is not workable."

"It is not in the best interest of Victoria and I will fight it all the way."

Mr. Elworthy said shipowners and holders of waterfront property would have to bear the costs of maintaining a port authority yet, he said, they would gain nothing by its existence.

"Ships will pass this port up altogether if we put any more obstacles in their way," he said.

WOULD BE BENEFICIAL

Mr. Paulin, defending the report of his committee, said the clauses embodied in the act were much like those in all similar acts. He said his committee had gone into all matters pertaining to the act very thoroughly and were sure they would be beneficial, rather than harmful.

T. G. Denny, director on the harbor committee, spoke of the filthy state of the Inner Harbor and contended at present no one could be held responsible for keeping it clear. This, he noted, would be just one matter the harbor authority could deal with.

Walter Miles, chamber president, expressed himself as being in favor of the proposed legislation. He noted if accepted by the chamber, the report would have to go to the City Council for its approval.

At the suggestion of H. Cuthbert Holmes, past president, the matter was left on the table for future discussion to enable both sides to prepare their arguments on the matter.

Nicolet-Yamaska Federal By-election Won By Conservative

NICOLET, Que. (CP) — The rural constituency of Nicolet-Yamaska, long a Liberal stronghold, was handed back to the Progressive Conservatives today by a man who wasn't born when his party was last successful in the St. Lawrence River riding.

In a close battle that brought out a heavy vote, Renaud Chapdelaine, 37-year-old Nicolet lawyer, won Monday's federal by-election over Paul Trahan, Liberal, and Romulus Manseau, a farmer who campaigned as an Independent Liberal.

Mr. Chapdelaine had a plurality of only 286 in complete returns for the 103 polls announced by returning officer Charles Edouard Villeneuve.

The final figures: Chapdelaine 8,295, Trahan 7,999, Manseau 432. The by-election was caused by the death of Lucien Dubois, who won over Mr. Trahan and an Independent Conservative in the general election of 1945. In that contest, Mr. Dubois polled 7,973 votes against Mr. Trahan's 6,658 for a plurality of 1,315. The third candidate, as in Monday's voting, trailed far behind.

Present standing in the House of Commons is: Liberals 124, Progressive Conservatives 68, C.C.F. 32, Social Credit 12, others 8. It was the first defeat of the Liberal Party in Nicolet-Yamaska or the two former separate ridings of Nicolet and Yamaska since 1911.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent issued the following statement on Monday's federal by-election in Nicolet-Yamaska, Que., in which Renaud Chapdelaine, Progressive Conservative, was the successful candidate:

"The defeat of the Liberal candidate in Nicolet-Yamaska is as disappointing as the recent victory in Laval-Two Mountains was encouraging.

"The significance of the two results is that, for the Liberal Party, unity means success and division means defeat.

DREW'S STATEMENT

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Nicolet-Yamaska by-election "offers the most convincing proof" that his party is "on the march in every part of Canada."

Extenuating Circumstances Admitted By People's Court

BUDAPEST (CP) — The "People's Court" here which sentenced Cardinal Mindszenty today to imprisonment for life said these were the extenuating circumstances on which it granted a review of the sentence to be made by the Supreme People's Tribunal.

The court said these were the extenuating circumstances in the cardinal's case:

He confessed and expressed regret; he lived far from worldly affairs; and the United States, through its minister here, Selden Chapin, "made him hope that the United States of America would start a war and this war would help him attain his aims."

Aggravating factors, the judge added, were the cardinal's high station in the church, his high degree of education, and the amassing of the crimes he committed.

The court asked the defendants, one by one, to state whether they accepted the verdicts or would join in the appeals of their lawyers. Cardinal Mindszenty, asked if he wanted to appeal, answered with a firm "yes."

This opens the way for the appeals court to impose more severe sentences, if it wishes, or to reduce the sentences. The prosecutor appealed for harsher sentences, arguing that the people's court should have imposed death upon the cardinal.

The cardinal had pleaded partly guilty but denied plotting to overthrow the Hungarian government. All the other defendants, except Justin Baranyay, a professor of church law, also had made the same plea and the same denial.

Baranyay pleaded innocent. Today he was convicted of trying to overthrow the republic and sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment, loss of his fortune and political rights, and loss of job for 10 years. Presumably the loss of his job would be effective at the end of his sentence.

Here are the other convictions and sentences, as read out to the court this morning by presiding Judge Vilmos Olthys: Rev. Ondras Zakar, the cardinal's secretary, convicted of treason and trying to overthrow the government; six years' imprisonment, loss of his job and fortune, and suspension of his political rights. Duke Paul Esterhazy, wealthy Hungarian landowner, convicted of trying to overthrow the republic and of speculation in foreign currency; 15 years' imprisonment, loss of his job, political rights and fortune.

Rev. Miklos Nagy, secretary of Catholic Action, convicted of speculating in foreign currency and of failing to do his duty to the government by exposing the other cases; three years' imprisonment, suspension of his political rights and loss of his job for five years.

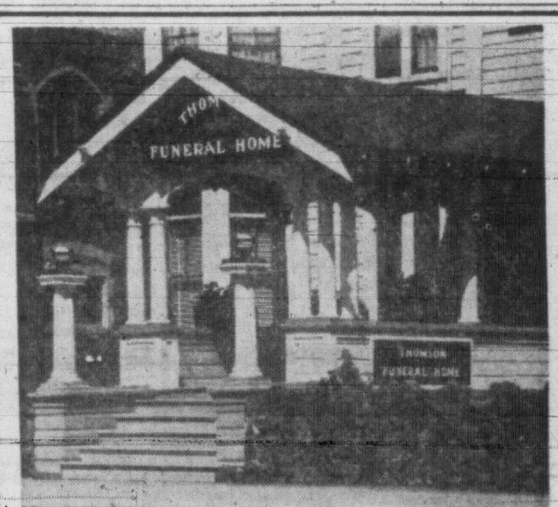

Rev. Bela Ispenky, another Roman Catholic priest, convicted of treason and speculation in foreign currency; life imprisonment and deprived of his job, political rights and fortune.

Laszlo Toth, a journalist, convicted of treason; 10 years' imprisonment, 10 years' suspension from his job, loss of political rights and confiscation of his property.

WHAT KIND OF VICTORY?

FEDERAL LIBERALS THROUGHOUT
Canada would be less than human if they were not experiencing a sense of disappointment at the loss of yesterday's by-election in the Quebec constituency of Nicolet-Yamaska. Federal Progressive Conservatives, by the reverse token, will doubtless feel a sense of jubilation over what was so obviously a triumph for the Duplessis-Drew axis.

This important riding had been regarded, and rightly so, as a traditional Liberal stronghold. As we observed in these columns last Friday, in the general election of 1945 the vote collected by the Independent Conservative was 944, while the late Mr. L. Dubois, battling in the Liberal cause, polled no fewer than 7,973 votes, with Mr. Paul Trahan, an Independent Liberal, running second with 6,658. In yesterday's contest, however, the latter carried the banner of Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent and increased his vote by 1,341. But this was not enough. Mr. Renaud Chagnon, the nominee of the Progressive Conservative Party—meaning, of course, the Duplessis—"screened" anti-St. Laurent favorite—had run up a total of 8,295 in the final tally.

It would be foolish to belabor the point unduly that if Independent Liberal candidate Romulus Nasseau—who polled 432 votes—had remained aloof from the contest, leaving it a fight between the straight Liberal and the straight Progressive Conservative, the political standing of the House of Commons would have undergone no change. The result, nevertheless, should be taken as a warning to the two major political parties that a multiplicity of candidates in either federal or provincial elections is the short cut to office for elements that, by no stretch of the imagination, could be said to reflect the view of the majority of an intelligent Canadian electorate.

Judged from the broadest standpoint, the electors in the vast federal field should consider it their duty, and in their best interests, to try to discover the real meaning of yesterday's Progressive Conservative victory in the Ancient Province—apart from the traditional history of the riding involved. We advance this suggestion for an important and specific reason. It is this: Has the new leader of the Progressive Conservative Party of Canada hitched his wagon to the Duplessis star? If that be the case, if Mr. Drew has staged a return act of the Borden formula of 1911, it is time the Canadian people knew about it and understood it.

This need not be construed as belittling the significance of a rebuff to a party which is represented in the national forum by members from every Canadian province. It is intended as a reminder to the people of this nation that the man who rules the roost in Quebec will have to make clear to the people of stolid Ontario just what is his arrangement with the former Premier of that province.

SOCIAL EVOLUTION

PROGRESS MADE IN SOCIAL EVOLUTION is neatly emphasized in the news story condensing an article by former Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the 25th anniversary edition of Canadian Welfare. In it the present member of the House of Commons for Glenora notes:

"The new social order seeks to recognize industry as a public service rather than as a private business, and to stress community well-being rather than individual self-interest. In the modern state, and especially in free parliaments and other democratic assemblies, the emphasis from now on is certain to be placed more and more upon matters which affect human well-being."

This is not a radical new discovery. It is the enunciation of a development which has been proceeding from those early days when cheap labor was a mere, impersonal commodity that went into the processes of production; when a workman was of value only as a source of energy or brain power to perform a specific task or run a particular machine. The long and legitimate struggle by organized labor against this depreciation of human values has been coupled with the efforts of those of liberal outlook to correct many of the abuses that marked the early industrial era. Wholesale exploitation, the use of child labor, the drudgery of impossibly long hours, the imposition of unhealthful and degrading working conditions are now such things of the past that their infrequent re-emergence arouses public indignation. The worker, today, at least in free countries, can stand up and assert his rights as a man. He is no longer a creature to be supplied with only those necessities which are required to keep a beast of burden functioning to the profit of his employer.

The outlook of the former Prime Minister, his forecast of the future attitude of industry and all connected with it, reflects the viewpoint of all right-thinking citizens. Our future growth as a nation is necessarily dependent on the trend to consider community and national well-being ahead of individual selfishness. Nor does his further contention that "the state must recognize it also has a part to play, a part in furthering social justice much more definite than it has taken in the past," indicate to our people any severe infringement of individual liberties.

What Mr. King has done is to co-ordinate records of progress we have made and by means of them point the way, through self-restraint by industry, to a fuller and more adult life. His words form a fitting postscript to his earlier volume "Industry and Humanity"—which, of course, is a standard work on the subject.

NOT A FREE HANDOUT

THE GENERAL PUBLIC WILL DO well to give full consideration to the advice of Provincial Health Minister George S. Pearson relative to use of the hospitals under the provincial hospital insurance scheme. The health department head warned last night that participants in the plan should not demand the use of hospital facilities in excess of unavoidable need. "If the privileges are abused," he said, "increases in premiums will logically follow."

The hospitalization plan is not a device whereby residents of British Columbia can get $100 worth of hospital services each year in return for the expenditure of a $30 premium. The rates and the services have been based on a normal use by the public, providing for accommodation as a result of the usual occurrence of illnesses and accidents. If the hospitals become filled with patients who could reasonably get along without such services it is obvious that a revision of insurance rates will have to be made to pay for the resulting increased costs. It is in the interests of everyone, whether subject to the need of hospitalization or fortunate enough to escape it, to keep the premiums as low as possible.

FOOLISH AND DANGEROUS

THE ACTION OF TWO YOUNG GIRLS who turned in a false alarm to the fire department last Friday night, when fog and slippery road surfaces raised driving hazards to their maximum, has served to underscore the foolish dangers of this practice. The children in question, it is safe to say, will never be guilty of the offense again. They were caught and driven around town under the difficult conditions then prevailing and were reportedly "scared to death."

It is important that the lesson they have presumably learned be extended to all other youngsters who think it might be an exciting pastime to "pull a box." Last week's conditions were extreme. The misdemeanor was the more serious because in the dirty weather of the night in question fires might have been expected as citizens stoked their furnaces with more than the ordinary amount of fuel. And while the equipment was out, some important genuine call might have been received.

In any case, it should be apparent that the fire department, when it makes a run, travels as quickly as it can within the limits of prudence. Under any conditions it is liable to accident because of the speed at which the engines must go if the response to a call is to be effective. The seriousness of the offense removes false alarms from the category of pranks.

COMMENDABLE PROJECT

TERMINATING A PERIOD OF A YEAR and a half during which no suitable permanent accommodation has been available for the exhibition of art displays, the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria will open new premises on Broughton Street tomorrow to mark its return to active furtherance of cultural life in this city. Both for its efforts in bringing here for public inspection the display of "Contemporary British Drawings"—which will be the occasion of the opening of the new gallery—as well as for providing attractive and permanent quarters for future exhibits, the organization has earned the commendation and thanks of the community. There are courage and civic consciousness in the group which kept alive its aspirations during the lengthy period without adequate accommodation. They are qualities which now should be recognized by the public in supporting this and future exhibits by attendance and interest. The Arts Centre is an important segment of Greater Victoria life. As such it merits a full measure of encouragement.

REGISTERS IMPROVEMENT

A VERY ENCOURAGING INDICATION of health conditions in this province is seen in mortality statistics issued last week by the B.C. Department of Health. According to the report the rates for both infant and maternal deaths in 1948 touched all-time lows. Despite an increase in population, there were only 597 infant deaths during the year, compared with 745 in 1947. The rate was 23.9 per 1,000 live births. There were 25 maternal deaths last year, representing a rate of 1.0.

Such a situation has not arisen by chance. The increased utilization of prenatal care, the extension of hospital services, the emphasis on adequate diets for both mother and child, the generally more enlightened attitude toward preventive medicine and health rules—all these are now showing results. Statistical returns also reveal an outstanding decrease in deaths from tuberculosis—additional evidence of the efficacy of publicized examination and treatment campaigns. Deaths from heart diseases and cancer unfortunately showed increases in 1948, particularly in the older age groups, giving a reminder that much still remains to be done. But the various agencies engaged in health work, and the public which is giving a greater measure of co-operation, are to be commended.

Walter Lippmann

THE STALIN-ACHESON EXCHANGE

THE HARD CORE of the matter in the declaration by Premier Stalin and United States Secretary of State Acheson is whether there shall be a conference before there is an agreement on Germany or an agreement before there is a conference. Stalin would like to bring about a conference now—if possible with President Truman and certainly of the Foreign Ministers. Mr. Acheson, if I interpret him correctly, knows that no conference can succeed until through diplomatic channels an agreement has been reached among the three western powers and with the Soviet government.

What Mr. Acheson rejected was the proposal to enter a public conference blindly. What he proposed instead was that the "normal channels" of diplomatic negotiation be used first to prepare the understandings without which a public conference can end only in more violent disagreement.

EVEN DURING the war, when Churchill, Roosevelt, and Stalin all had almost undisputed authority and were held together in the face of a common enemy, the unprepared face-to-face meetings had grave disadvantages. Under present conditions they would be hopeless, perhaps disastrous. Too much has happened; all the governments are now the prisoners of their own acts, declarations, and propaganda; the issues are frozen; their prestige is at stake. They are unable to negotiate publicly because the give-and-take of negotiation now means victory and defeat.

This state of affairs can be unfrozen only by careful, patient and quiet diplomatic intercourse by the mediation of neutrals, and by events which reveal the mistakes that none is as yet prepared to acknowledge.

THE MAIN PROBLEM which has to be solved is indicated by Mr. Acheson's comment on Stalin's answer to the third question in the press interview. They are agreed that the blockade, the counter-blockade, the Berlin currency, the Western German government are provisional measures on the way to "a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers" to consider the German problem as a whole. But there is no agreement as to what would happen when the Big Four met to consider Germany as a whole. In the American view there is no meeting until it is known what can be done at that meeting. For if agreement is not reached at that meeting, participants will be worse off than they are now. The Russians will want to restore the blockade; the United States will feel that she has to push on with the Western German government. The partition of Germany, which is still provisional, will become much deeper.

Therefore, the crucial problem is to find through diplomatic channels something substantial and useful which a Council of Foreign Ministers could agree upon.

NOW AT THE PRESENT time or in the near future it is, I think, impossible for them to agree on a peace treaty for Germany. For that presents an insoluble question: What shall be the government for Germany as a whole? The Council of Foreign Ministers is bound to disagree about that.

This means that the Council of Foreign Ministers is incapable of providing the German nation with a government that suits the four powers and also the Germans. Does it not follow that they ought to stop trying to do what they know they can never do? Never before in all history have the victors in a war thought it was their responsibility to provide the vanquished with a suitable government. That sort of thing has been done for weak and backward tribes. But to imagine that Russians, Britons, Frenchmen, and Americans can construct a government which eighty million Germans will regard as legitimate, and will support and preserve, is—if one looks at it coldly and clearly—preposterous.

THE FORMATION of a German government cannot be achieved by the occupying powers. In all likelihood, it cannot be achieved by the Germans except after a prolonged period of struggle and contention among themselves.

If there is to be another Council of Foreign Ministers, its purpose should not be to write the final peace treaty. Its purpose should be to write a statute which will fix the relations of the victors to the Germans during the period of time when the Germans take over the responsibility of governing themselves and of creating a German government. For it will be only after the Germans themselves have created a government, which the victors are willing to recognize, that a peace treaty can be negotiated.

THE VICTORIOUS powers cannot, in other words, jump from the Potsdam system, which has broken down, straight over to a peace treaty. They must establish a new system to replace Potsdam. It would be an interim system, one in which the Allies continued to maintain garrisons in Germany and their ultimate controls, in which however they would liquidate military governments and cease to occupy the whole territory of Germany. In the beginning, then, the internal authority over Germany's affairs would pass to the various German state governments that now exist, severally and jointly, and, perhaps, as respects the maintenance of law and order, to the German police, regulation by the new occupation statute, and under the command of a neutral chief of police.

I'm Sorry, Joe, Did You Say Something?

'Integration' Would Finish Us

By E. L. R. WILLIAMSON, M.B.E., from Ottawa.

(The following is the seventh in a series of articles dealing with Canadian trade problems.)

WE SAW in the previous article that there is not the slightest practical justification for any hope that Canada, as a separate economic unit, can find in the United States markets which will maintain employment and income in Canada on the scale which the Sterling Area markets have provided. But could a solution be found if we went yet farther and "integrated" Canada's economy with that of the United States?

MAJOR PREMISES

The advocates of such a policy are to be found occasionally. We first must understand the major premises of "integration" are five: (1) Freedom of movement of all goods between both countries in both directions. (2) Freedom of business and industry to seek the most favorable locations with regard to the combined market. (3) Freedom of movement between the two countries for all workers. (4) Complete interchangeability or merging of the Canadian dollar with the American dollar. (5) A single economic and trade policy for the two countries.

The consequence of the first basis of "integration"—complete freedom of trade—would be to wipe out any reason for the maintenance of separate manufacturing establishments in each country. The site of industries would be determined by purely economic factors: location of markets, availability of supplies and labor, and working conditions.

The most favorable site for most industries would be in the United States, and in accordance with the second premise—freedom of movement for industry—most of Canada's industries would migrate to the south. The reasons for such a movement may be summarized as follows:

INDUSTRIAL MIGRATION

a. Canadian industries and American industries are, in the main, identical: they produce the same products in the same way.

b. The plants in the United States are much larger, and usually capable of supplying the whole of the North American continent.

c. The most advantageous position as regards time and transportation costs is at the centre of the market. Such centres would be in the United States; Canadian sites, as a rule, would be on the fringe of the market.

d. For most industries, climatic conditions are more favorable in the U.S.

e. The fuel of most industries is bituminous coal, and it is found in large supply in the U.S. rather than Canada.

f. The labor market in the U.S. is broader.

WORKERS WOULD GO

From the movement of industry, it follows that workers also—the third premise of "integration"—would move south. The principal movement would be amongst the highly trained and most capable—the cream of Canada's youth—with some movement of ordinary labor, but the majority of Canadian industrial workers would have to find employment in the primary industries, and particularly in mining and logging.

The fourth basis of "integration" is the merging of the Canadian and American dollars. This would subject all Canadian overseas exports to the full rigour of all the restrictions which the rest of the world must, and will, maintain against U.S. dollar purchases for many years to come. This could and would result in the virtual abolition of all overseas markets for Canadian goods; because, for whatever dollar purchases might be permitted, American producers would have a natural advantage.

As regards the fifth premise—a unified economic policy—it is obvious that the simple rule of "the greatest good to the greatest number" would ensure that economic policy would be framed in the American, not the Canadian, interest. The welfare of 145 millions of people would come before the interest of 12 millions.

PRIMARY PRODUCER

The first casualty of a unified economic policy would be the entire Imperial Preference system. The whole of Canada's vast branch-plant industry, with a capital investment of over $2,000,000,000 is based upon the Imperial Preference system. As "Imperial Preference" for a Canada "integrated" with the U.S. would be an impossibility, the whole basis of the branch-plant industries would collapse.

Canada in an "integrated" North American economy would have no role to fill but that of a primary producer. As a nation we would do most of our work in the forests and mines.

They Showed What Can Be Done

By JAMES THRASHER from New York

ALL THE recent news from Asia has not been of Communist advances and colonial strife. The Asian Conference on Indonesia, just closed at New Delhi, India, was marked by a calm dignity and determination which were in encouraging contrast to the war in China and the violence in Java.

Many had thought, some had hoped, and others had feared that the 19 governments which met at New Delhi would set up a sort of "Eastern Union" and enunciate a "Nehru Doctrine" for their part of the world. Instead, they reaffirmed their support of the United Nations. They asked that the resolutions of the U.N. Good Offices Committee be carried out. They asked support of the Security Council, and agreed to rely on its decisions without threat of independent sanctions, at least for the time being.

REAFFIRMED SUPPORT

The accounts of the conference, and the resolution it adopted were notable for two things. One was the mature, responsible statesmanship which clearly marked the proceedings. The other was the unity of purpose which joined these delegations from Africa, Asia and the Pacific.

Their purpose was to protect and extend independence and self-determination of government. Each country represented, from Ethiopia and Egypt to New Zealand and the Philippines, has known colonial or dependent status in its recent history. And each must have seen in the Indonesian trouble the threat of continued foreign rule.

All this may seem unimportant to us in the west. New Delhi is far distant, and the languages and interests and problems of those who gathered there will strike many as being equally remote.

FIRST CONCERN

But it is well to remember that the representatives at the New Delhi conference came from countries that contain more than half the world's population. To the leaders of those countries (except China, which was present as an observer) the world-shaking struggle between democracy and communism is of secondary importance. Their first concern is the struggle between colonialism and independence.

Most of those countries are poor and backward. But the war showed them that they were important. Invaded, threatened or cajoled by the Axis powers, they were wooed in turn by the Allies. Promises of independence were freely given in return for resistance to the enemy and friendly co-operation.

Now they want those promises fulfilled. How and how soon this happens can have a profound effect on the world's political trend. Thus far the attitude of the conference governments toward communism has ranged from cautious to hostile. Again excepting China, it has met with no marked success in any of them. But it should be noted that the Soviet government has been consistently sympathetic to the aspirations toward independence.

SENSIBLE GUIDE

The next great centre of power and progress may be the Orient, as some insist, but it cannot be for many years. Yet perhaps we have seen a first indication of a great mass rising in the unity at New Delhi, under the wise and reasonable influence of India's Prime Minister Nehru. The United Nations may well find in the conference resolution a source of new strength and a sensible guide for just action.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

ONE of the striking developments of the post-war period is the increased knowledge of world affairs possessed by the average citizen of the United States and other democracies.

The global war, of course, has been partly responsible for this change. Our fighting men have been sent to the four corners of the earth. Not only have we had to learn about the outside world in order to keep track of them, but they have brought home to us much that is new.

However, most of our new-found education comes from another and paradoxical source. That is Communism, which has stepped out of the dark ages in a new guise, and is making aggression against the rest of the world.

Did you ever stop to think how greatly our lives are affected by this Red world revolution?

We live in a state of constant suspense. Spies and fifth-columnists are working among us.

UNSETTLED CONDITIONS

The high cost of living is due in part to the unsettled conditions of the world. Taxes are swollen to defray expenses for defence against the Red aggression.

American wealth is being poured out to help many lands defend themselves against the Red plague. There's aid for China, aid for Turkey, aid for Greece, aid for all western Europe through the Marshall Plan which Russia is trying her best to disrupt.

Small wonder, then, that most citizens of the democracies should be making it their business to study developments and personalities involved in this cold war.

It's a tough school we are attending, but we are acquiring knowledge fast. We are moving fast in education.

WAR-MONGERING

Winnipeg Free Press
We notice in one of the university papers that a meeting of the Canadian University Press recently condemned "the war-mongering policy of many Canadian daily newspapers."

It is quite evident from this resolution that there are grave exceptions to the old proverb that out of the mouths of babes and sucklings comes forth wisdom.

USELESS INFORMATION

Windsor Star
In Japan a chemical reportedly has been found which will reveal conclusively the sex of an unborn babe. Perhaps, but we doubt the advantage of it. Supposing the prospective mother and father desire a girl, but find it is to be a boy, it's too late to do anything about it. Nothing is more inevitable, they say, than the birth of a babe—irrespective of its sex.

MR. GARDINER INSULTED?

Ottawa Journal
What's this nonsense about British cabinet ministers "insulting" Mr. Gardiner by not turning up at a luncheon given in London by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce?

London is a big place; and busy. If British cabinet ministers were to turn up at all the luncheons given over for visiting bigwigs, ranging from foreign ministers and Indian princes to Canadian cabinet ministers, the poor fellows would speedily die of indigestion.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London, who started this "insult" story, seems to be taking itself too seriously. Mr. Gardiner, happily, has no such vanity, has denied that insult was given, or intended.

CORRECTION, PLEASE

Financial Post
British Columbia, we are too fully informed, is "somewhat larger than the town of Vancouver." Occasion for this berating was our article on skiing (The Post, Dec. 18). We fumbled, it seems, by forgetting the B.C. ski scene with a mere side reference to what Vancouver was now doing in the way of winter wonderland development.

Now we find that B.C. indeed is doing much with its trails—and at Trail, in particular. Red Mountain in this region, it seems, boasts one of the highest ski lifts on the continent, "financed, organized, designed and constructed by the Red Mountain Ski Club."

Well, we're glad to put that right. And a plaque on our B.C. informant on this matter for putting us on this spot.

Drive To Induce More Men To Purchase Summer Suits

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Men can look for a drive to get them to have virtually two sets of clothing, one for summer, and one for winter.

It is one of the biggest opportunities in the clothing field and one which would be a blessing to the customer as well as to business.

True, an increasing number of men now buy summer-weight suits, but they still are in the minority. And most of those who do buy them, buy only one. That means that while it is getting pressed they have to revert to winter-weight serges and tweeds. Try it, sometime, in a sweltering city.

ALREADY ADVERTISING

This year in Canada some stores—already are advertising summer suits and one large department store is trying to get men to order two. Last year at least one store which advertised a group of well-tailored suits at a moderate price was sold out soon after the doors had opened and could have sold several times as many. This indicated the market is there.

In the United States, industry-wide campaigns are being organized. A spokesman for the Men's Fashion Guild of America says new fabrics, new constructions and new fashions in hot-weather wear have marked the most radical changes in men's apparel in a number of years.

For Canadian industry, at least, it is a two-way opportunity, for most Canadian men dress neither for summer nor winter. They may do better on the prairies, but in eastern cities by and large there is not much difference in wear between 30 below and 100 above. Same suit, same shoes, same hat, same collar and tie, probably same underwear—just an addition of overcoat, muffler and overshoes for the cold days.

FROM ARCTIC

The few men who do wear something fit for winter, look as if they are just in from Baffin Land, and make a half-apology for being sensible.

Clothing designers have done little about developing a well-cut distinctive Canadian wear—except the ski clothing designers, and through their efforts to meet the ski trade may lie some hope.

Perhaps some day the cold days will consist of something better than dashing from apartment to streetcar and streetcar to office, and one may be able to enjoy them without frozen ears from a hat stuck on top of the head.

The Vancouver Island Rabbit Breeders' Association will meet in Prince Robert House Friday at 8. The first of the four member points table shows will take place.

THREE WELL-KNOWN FIRMS IN MODERN NEW BUILDING

This attractive building on Yates Street houses Ballantyne Brothers, Florists, the Murphy Electric Company, Ltd., and the Blue Line Taxi Company. Simple and streamlined in its design, a notable feature is the wide canopy front, shading the cleverly angled display windows.

Ballantynes have been well-known in Victoria for many years and opened their first shop in Victoria, in 1926, at 639 Fort Street, where they sold fruit and flowers. In 1936 they moved to Douglas Street, where they concentrated on flowers and pottery for 12 years. Recently they arrived at 742 Yates. The interior of the store has a pleasing floral atmosphere. An unusual feature is the delightful "garden wall" display area, built in of Perma-stone and red tile. Long vertical mirrors above the "garden wall" are indirectly flooded with light to enhance the beauty of the flowers displayed. One entire wall is devoted to the showing of charming pottery vases and ornaments for every bouquet imaginable, from a gala array of tall cut flowers to a glass "bubble" for a single fragrant bloom.

Currently the shop is filled with the first blossoms of spring daffodils, tulips, hyacinths, iris and narcissi.

Mr. C. A. Ballantyne is the president of the company, Mr. G. D. the secretary-treasurer, and a director is a sister, Mrs. E. W. Andrews. Affiliated with Ballantynes is the Uplands Greenhouses, where they are commencing to grow many of their own blooms.

The Murphy Electric Co. Ltd. started business in Victoria in 1912 and have been located on Yates St. for many years.

They have recently moved into their smart new store at 744 Yates St. directly across the road from their former Yates Street location. A feature of the new store is the splendid arrangement for the display of lighting fixtures. In addition to a full line of toasters, irons and other small appliances the Murphy Electric Co. also handle the famous Frigidaire refrigerators and electric ranges, Beauty washers, General Electric radios and vacuum cleaners.

At the present time the Murphy Electric has a staff of sixteen qualified electricians on various construction jobs throughout the city; this firm has handled many important installations and are prepared to give efficient service on all types of lighting and electrical installation.

The Murphy Electric are Victoria representatives for the B.C. District Telegraph and have installed the Burglar and Fire Alarm systems for such firms as the Bank of Montreal, Imperial Bank, Canada Trust Co., Royal Trust Co. and the Provincial Government.

Support Said Strong For Liquor Changes

The campaign of the B.C. Cabaret Owners' Association to get liquor into public places was reported gaining wide support today.

In Vancouver, according to the Canadian Press, 16,000 citizens have signed the association's petition, asking overhaul of the existing B.C. Liquor Act. One report claimed that 11,000 had signed the petition in Victoria, but this figure was questioned by one restaurant owner, who claimed the officials of the B.C. Cabaret Owners' Association tended to be over-optimistic concerning their campaign.

The Vancouver report quoted Harvey Middleton, vice-president of the B.C. Cabaret Owners' Association as saying: "We have had these books on counters for only two weeks. Our expectations have been exceeded."

The plan of the association is to place the petition before the provincial government during the session of the Legislature.

Gowns And Hats Of Feminine Guests Add Color To Traditional Ceremony

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Historic ceremonies that reach back into the beginnings of our province no doubt were the high point of interest at the opening of the fourth session of the 21st Legislature at the Parliament Buildings, this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

But, forming a colorful background and adding brilliance to the more serious proceedings was the feminine part of the picture.

The wives and daughters of leading dignitaries, cabinet ministers and private members, all smartly gowned and hatted in the season's gayest mood.

And with them, the special guests, who had been invited to sit on the floor of the House or in the galleries, to witness the ceremonies.

Leading the feminine parade was Mrs. Charles A. Banks, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of the province. Accompanying her were Rear-Admiral H. G. DeWolf, C.B.E., D.S.O., D.S.C., R.C.N., Flag Officer Pacific Coast, and Mrs. DeWolf.

Palest shadow pink beige was the color chosen by Mrs. Banks for her classic suit, smartly styled with Peter Pan collar. A small hat, beret-shaped, in deeper tones of beige, with small brown feather wings, and brown accessories, complemented the suit. Mrs. Banks wore pearls as her only jewelry, and three-quarter length mink coat.

Mrs. DeWolf chose a black crepe afternoon dress with a black felt hat decorated with feather ornament and brown squirrel cape.

BLACK WITH CAMEO PINK

Mrs. Gordon McG. Sloan, wife of the Chief Justice of British Columbia wore a fine black wool ensemble, trimmed with Persian lamb, a small black model hat enhanced with two huge cameo pink roses and silver fox cape.

The Premier's lady, Mrs. Byron I. Johnson, chose a navy blue dressmaker suit, with fine white silk crepe blouse, small navy pillbox styled hat with white feather cockade and stone marten neck furs.

In Mrs. Johnson's party were Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Sutherland, Mrs. Harold McKenzie, and the Premier's niece, Miss Joan Russell, all of New Westminster.

Navy blue was also the choice of Mrs. C. H. O'Halloran, wife of Mr. Justice O'Halloran, for her two-piece ensemble with an orchid-shaded blouse, small navy chip straw hat, and short sealskin jacket. She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Eileen O'Halloran and son, Desmond O'Halloran.

Miss O'Halloran wore a blue taffeta in the longer length for afternoon, with navy accessories and topcoat of snow leopard skins.

A black afternoon dress distinguished with turquoise trimming, Hudson seal coat, black felt hat trimmed with coq feathers was the choice of Mrs. G. R. Pearkes, wife of the Dominion member of Parliament.

BLUE AND GREY

A classic tailored suit of fine blue-grey wool with grey felt off-the-face hat trimmed with uncured ostrich feathers and topcoat of squirrel fur, was worn by Mrs. E. T. Kenney, wife of the Minister of Lands and Forests.

Mrs. Herbert Anson, wife of the Finance Minister, wore a black crepe dress with black accessories, black Alaska seal coat, and small black velvet cap-styled hat, banded with gold.

Special guests with her were Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Baxter and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Dunn.

Black was also the choice of Mrs. Frank Putnam, wife of the Minister of Agriculture, in a suit dress, with robin's egg blue vest matching the blue trimming in her black hat. With this Mrs. Putnam wore a Hudson seal coat.

She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. E. Robson of Duncan, V.I.

A suit of aqua blue Barathia cloth with deep maroon red silk scarf, hat and shoes, and Canadian squirrel topcoat was worn by Mrs. E. C. Carson, wife of the Public Works minister.

Also in the Eyres party were Mayor T. T. McCammon and Mrs. McCammon of Chilliwack and Miss Winnett Copeland, Victoria.

The wife of the Minister of Education, Mrs. W. T. Straith, was dressed in a deep claret red dress, featuring draped fullness in the skirt. Her hat was velvet velvet, turned-back from the face.

Mrs. Jack Rutan, who accompanied Mrs. Straith, was a striking contrast, in her navy and white ensemble.

Mrs. John Hart, wife of Mr. Speaker designate, was wearing a simply styled aqua blue crepe with grey accessories, grey felt hat with matching ostrich feather trim and moleskin cape. Her guests were Mrs. F. H. A. Norton and Miss Ruth Norton.

Also seated with Mrs. Hart were Mrs. Robert Carson, and her son Mr. D. J. Carson. Mrs. Carson was wearing a black blue crepe, styled on classic lines with long sleeves, high neckline and draped skirt. The only two women members of the House, Mrs. Nancy Hodges and Mrs. Tilly Rolston, were seated close together this afternoon.

A smoke grey afternoon dress trimmed with a row of diamante buttons down the front of the simple styled bodice and with soft side draping in the skirt, was worn by Mrs. Hodges, who also chose the same grey tone in her off-the-face hat, trimmed with a deeper grey and black flecked feather fantasy.

Mrs. Rolston chose a black dressmaker suit, styled on classic lines. She wore a black hat, the upturned brim covered with pink-shaded blossoms, complemented with a fine black veil.

SPRING FLORALS

A new spring floral in grey and cerise was worn by Mrs. George, who accompanied her husband, Mayor Percy E. George, to the ceremonies this afternoon. Black accessories, black corded silk hat with black stiff feather trim and black sealskin coat was Mrs. George's choice to complete her ensemble.

Reeve R. A. Wootton of Oak Bay was accompanied by Miss Anna Wootton, in a navy blue ensemble with dusky pink and navy accessories.

The reeve of Esquimalt, A. I. Thomas, was accompanied by Mrs. Thomas, who wore a grey wool suit with maroon felt hat, the same toned topcoat and black accessories.

Hunter's green gabardine suit with brown ermine cape and green and grey hat, and accessories were worn by Mrs. E. W. Arnott, who accompanied her husband, the newly-appointed head of the B.C. Electric Railway Company in Victoria.

Hospital Woman Auxiliaries To Continue, Says Pearson

The Provincial government is very anxious that the work of women's auxiliaries to hospitals continue during the development of the new B.C. Hospital Insurance Service, Health and Welfare Minister George S. Pearson said Monday night.

In a broadcast address, the minister said that no hospital can develop its maximum of services without the assistance of a well-organized women's auxiliary. He added that the comfort, the household equipment and the community pride of hospitals was as high as it is largely because of the support of auxiliaries.

"Some impression has gained ground that this service will not be necessary and that if it is given, the value of the service will accrue to the hospital insurance service rather than the local hospital," he said. "If the present arrangements with hospitals seem to indicate that this is the case, it will be corrected so that the value received from the efforts of women's auxiliaries will accrue to the local hospital and the benefits to the local patients."

Pearson said that the greatest evidence of the success of the hospital insurance scheme was that no insurance company or benefit society has considered it possible to guarantee to provide equal benefits at the same cost.

To improve the service, he said, citizens should deal only with the local office at which they are registered, immediately advise the local office of changes in addresses, marital status and dependents.

"So that there will be assurance of a sufficient supply of hospital beds for acute hospital cases all persons should avoid using hospital beds excepting where acute care is necessary until such time as hospital accommodation has reached a point where there is ample accommodation," he said.

The minister outlined plans to increase hospital accommodation.

Th pressure on hospital accommodation is very great at the present time, but reports show that it is only slightly greater than in previous years at this season," he said. "Every possible effort will be made to bring British Columbia hospital bed capacity to a still higher level as quickly as possible."

WOMEN KEEP AGES SECRET BUT PASSING YEARS CAN ADD TO ATTRACTIVENESS

How old is Anne? You won't find out from Anne. It is one of the secrets that women keep hidden deep in their hearts. In a recent poll that was made on women's ages only one woman in 20 told the truth. Well, that's all right. A woman's age is her own business, and if she thinks that she looks like a bobby-soxer instead of grandma, it is her own affair.

In her soul every woman is like the astute lady who said that she had been 29 for 10 years and she meant to stay that way. But the queer thing about women's obsession about remaining perpetual teen-agers is that their efforts to side-track time mainly run to hair-dos and lipstick. Heaven knows that in a world that is full of ugliness we shouldn't be choosy about beauty, and we owe a vote of thanks to any woman who is easy on the eyes, no matter how she does it.

Now it is a fine and philanthropic thing for women to make themselves as pulchritudinous as they can and to look as young as they say they are, but pretty is as pretty does and, alas, many women fail of attaining perpetual youth because they take the wrong method.

LOOK RIDICULOUS

They put their whole faith on looks and their looks betray them, for none of us look as good to others as we look to ourselves. So we have the millions of elderly women who spend fortunes in beauty shops trying to be made over like glamour girls; who hike out their skinny legs in shorts or make public exhibitions of their poundage, and who think they are being young and gay when they are only being silly.

While there is no way by which a woman can make her age static and remain forever young and beautiful, there is a way by which she can make her birthdays an asset instead of a total loss, and that is by frankly and honestly being her age and acting like it. For the things that attract us in youth bore us stiff when we come to the age of discretion. The antics of a baby or a puppy are cute and amusing for an hour, but Heaven help us if we had to watch them for a day.

SOUGHT AFTER

And there is a beauty of age that is even more appealing than that of youth, because it has intelligence and character behind it. Many a homely girl develops into a woman so fascinating and interesting to be with that nobody ever gives a second thought to whether she has a Grecian profile and a willowy figure or not.

Many old women are far more popular and sought after when they are 70 than they were at 17, because age has made them wise and tolerant and kind and people go to them when they're in trouble as to a shrine to be blessed and comforted.

The women who spend their lives trying to keep young waste their efforts. In the first place, it can't be done and, in the second place, it is not the thing in women that we really want. We want intelligence. We want sweetness. We want humor. We want loyalty. And these are not the virtues of extreme youth. It takes time to ripen character. And that is why so many men, who are big catches, marry middle-aged women, instead of little cuties.

So Anne doesn't need to worry over her birthdays. They are her best bet.

Seek Penalties For Misrepresentation Of Livestock

DUNCAN—A decision to take action to prevent cattle changing hands at sales before having been blood tested for Bang's disease, and also to ask for severe penalties in the case of vendors misrepresenting livestock for sale, was made by members of the Vancouver Island Ayrshire Club, at a meeting at the home of Capt. ## Non-Communists Denounce Sentence Given Cardinal

LONDON (AP)—Leaders throughout the non-Communist world bitterly denounced the life imprisonment sentence imposed on Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty today by a "People's court" of Communist-dominated Hungary.

Comment ranged from "a savage Communist attack on the Christian church" to a "travesty of justice."

In many countries, bishops called on Roman Catholics for special prayers.

Pope Pius XII in prayer in his private chapel at the Vatican City, Vatican sources said, after hearing the news "with most profound sorrow."

The Pope will take the first occasion to protest "in most definitive terms," Vatican informants reported.

In Germany, the Archbishop of Trier, Dr. Friedrich Rudolf Bornemann, and the Archbishop of Paderborn, Laurentius Jaeger, called for special prayers.

In Austria, Andrea Rohrbacher, Archbishop of Salzburg, said the sentence "is just what we expected. We will not give the Hungarian government the honor of our protest."

Four and a Half Million Canadians Own Life Insurance Says President Mutual Life of Canada

Encouragement of Thrift Essential in Sound National Policy

Mutual Life Record Outstanding Example of Value of Independence Created Through Personal Effort

Reviews Outlook for Canadians

Waterloo, Ont., February 8th.

"Freedom has been experienced in widest degree in those countries where men have earned their security by their own efforts," declared Mr. Louis L. Lang, President of The Mutual Life of Canada, when addressing the 79th Annual Meeting of policyholders of the Company today. He emphasized that the results of the Company's operations for the policyholders are a very pointed example of the social and economic security which can be obtained through the initiative of free men in a free society.

When dealing with world affairs Mr. Lang expressed the opinion that, although the prospects of avoiding a third world war are becoming brighter, all nations must be well prepared. "We must protect our lives, our liberties and our possessions, and this cannot be done without paying the price in thought, effort and money," he said.

Mr. Lang foresaw continued high production in Canada, the heavy backlog of orders in many lines precluding the likelihood of any serious downswing in the production trend of consumer goods; but, as production increases, the hunt for new markets for Canadian products will become more intensive.

A practical and humanitarian interest in world affairs, stabilization of wages and salaries, economy in government expenditures, and a continuous emphasis on the value of thrift, were some of the essentials of wise Canadian policy advocated by Mr. Lang.

Speaking specifically of the progress of The Mutual Life of Canada, he pointed out that the 111 million dollars paid to policyholders in dividends since 1869 were equivalent to 20% of the total premiums received, these refunds reducing substantially the cost of protection and constituting convincing evidence of the Company's low net cost record.

A condensation of Mr. Lang's address, and the address delivered by Mr. A. E. Pequegnat, General Manager, who commented on the Annual Statements, follow:

Mr. Louis L. Lang
President

Large Percentage of Population Owns Life Insurance

Ownership of nearly $13 billion of life insurance by some 4 1/2 million Canadians is convincing proof of the very important place occupied by the institution of life insurance in the social and economic structure of our nation. Basically, there are three major functions performed by a life insurance company: the gathering together of small sums from a large number of people into a common fund to provide protection against the hazards of death and to accumulate savings for old age; the husbanding of these funds through safe and nationally productive investments; and, at the needful time, their distribution in policyholders' beneficiaries or to living policyholders. The efficiency and effectiveness with which these three major functions are performed measure the contribution of the life insurance industry to the nation.

The history of The Mutual Life is truly "A Romance of Co-operation." The financial measure of the results of the Company's operations is before you today. The individual co-operative method illustrated by the successful record of our Company, Canada's original mutual, is in sharp contrast to that envisioned by the "cradle to the grave" philosophy which involves Government financial support in huge amounts and saddles the productive workers with the dead weight of burdensome taxation.

High Returns to Policyholders

In the seventy-nine years since this Company was founded, over $374 million has been distributed to policyholders and beneficiaries. $112 million was paid in death benefits; the balance of $262 million was paid to living policyholders. $111 million consisted of dividends—refunds

Post Office Dept. Had Profit For Year

OTTAWA (CP)—For the ninth consecutive year Canada's post office made money, it is shown in the annual report of the Postmaster-General for 1947-48.

Total revenues of $91,613,618 were $5,212,667 higher than the previous year, and the department turned over a balance of $9,827,491.

Net revenue amounted to $77,770,967 compared with $72,986,624 the previous year, while expenditures amounted to $67,943,475 compared with $64,943,475 in 1946-47. The $9,827,491 balance compared with $8,773,574 the previous year.

The department has shown a surplus, ranging around $10,000, in most cases, each year since 1939.

Big Narcotic Seizure

NEW YORK (AP)—Seizure of a store of narcotics with an underworld sales value estimated at $2,500,000 was disclosed by police today. Joseph Basile, 39, was arrested and charged with unlawful possession of narcotics, which police said were found in his apartment.

but in 1948 increased to 3.12%. Continuing all types of new investments, the rates were 4.32% in 1938 and 4.25% in 1948, with the low in 1945 of 3.34%.

Accomplishments Through Free Enterprise

Canada, in spite of some state ownership and control, is still overwhelmingly a free enterprise country. Canadians recognize that governments have their duties in some particular fields of operation, which cannot be delegated to private citizens, but the great majority remember that free enterprise and adventure developed the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States and wish to maintain, improve and expand the system which produced such unparalleled results in these two leading world political, economic and social organizations.

It has been said, but it cannot be repeated too often, that the greatest asset of Canadians is their faith and character. Faith and character have helped them to build the Canada of today, and will help them to prepare for and meet the challenges of the future. The same may be said of The Mutual Life. A company that has the inspiration of seventy-nine years of progressive achievement, the security of which has been shown so consistently in its results, can be expected to prosper in the years to come.

Statements Analyzed by Mr. A. E. Pequegnat, General Manager

Mr. A. E. Pequegnat
General Manager

Business Expansion in Canada

The steady growth in production, national income, trade, capital development and the expansion of Canada during the past three years has been remarkable. There has been an immense market during the last three years for all we in Canada and the United States can grow and make. Nevertheless, North America cannot sustain and supply the rest of the world indefinitely, and it should be our aim to assist stricken countries to recover and to resume their natural places in the economy of the world.

Canadian Outlook for 1949

Much of our economy will be dependent upon conditions outside our own boundaries and beyond our control. Activity in important capital goods industries is still high, and an appreciable slowing-down which has been apparent in consumer goods. This may result in competitive markets to a greater extent than has been experienced in the recent past—a condition which will be welcomed by people hard-pressed by prevailing high prices. The importance of maintaining production at the highest possible levels in all fields is apparent in that production of national income and the foundation of our present standards and conditions, providing the base for all improvement and development.

Further Wage Increases Unwise

There have recently been some indications of lower prices, leading to the hope that the cost of living may be stabilizing or turning downward. The earnings of corporations and other businesses, coupled with the light of their purchasing power, have been just as greatly affected by high costs as has been the household. If our competitive position in world markets is to be retained, the importance of arresting unreasonable demands for higher incomes is evident. If met, the result will be a delay in the lowering of prices, or even encourage the continuance of the upward trend. New buildings, machinery and other factors must come out of reserves and profits or progress will be diminished. In some cases, it is safer policy to accept reasonable wages and salaries in order to permit the accumulation of reasonable reserves to carry productive enterprise through those periods when profits are low or non-existent and to diminish unemployment should markets shrink than to demand and secure all earnings for present division and consumption.

Encouragement of Thrift Essential

A great portion of our tax burden is the result of two wars, the interest on the national debt incurred is a definite factor in all tax bills; there is an increasing demand for social services and capital expenditures. Improvement in social services is commendable and should be continued so long as it is kept within bounds, but otherwise it will slowly but surely destroy our economy. In the long run the Government has no money except what it takes from the people in the form of taxes. Money diverted to unproductive, although necessary, purposes leaves so much less for investment in the expansion of enterprises in all the great fields of production which, when developed, create more employment and provide larger incomes for the people in all parts of the country. Those between approximately twenty and twenty-five years of age, who are actually working and earning, will be the backbone for all others, including children, the aged, the afflicted and the unemployed. This is an additional reason why the ancient virtue of thrift must be encouraged in a sound national policy.

Ontario M.L.A.'s To Debate Power Issue

TORONTO (CP)—The Progressive Conservative government's electric power development policy shapes up as one of the chief issues of the first session of Ontario's new Legislature, opening Thursday.

Political circles expect the C.C.F. and Liberal parties, numerically stronger after the Ontario general election June 7, will accuse the government of failure to develop power fast enough to meet the demand.

However, government sources say they feel developments have taken the wind out of the sails of hydro critics. The power scarcity of late fall and early winter, when power was cut off in many Ontario communities for fixed periods each day, has been greatly relieved by an increased flow of water in the Ottawa valley and in Quebec, where Ontario purchases some power.

Cummings, Jolson, Dot Lamour, Wilde To Visit Europe

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sometimes I think this is getting to be a European travel column. Take a look at today's items:
Robert Cummings will leave in May for at least eight months in Europe. He will perform in "Password to Love" in France, and may do a picture in Italy and another in Sweden.
Al Jolson will shove off for a European trip with his wife after his last broadcast in June. It will be mostly measure, but he'll make some charity appearances.
Dorothy Lamour plays the Palladium in London, starting Aug. 15. Afterwards, she'll tour the continent. Cornelia Wilde leaves next week for a picture in Switzerland, and Ray Milland is planning an overseas trip for his whole family.
Tyrone Power will stay abroad to make "The Black Rose." And Vic Maturin is reading the script of "Paradise Lost, 1949," which is planned for shooting in Italy.
Meanwhile, the cry arises, why don't the studios keep their stars home and put them to work? Today there are 18 pictures shooting in Hollywood. That's pretty slim pickings, compared with 33 a year ago.

REDUCING FORMULA

Red Skelton dropped more than 20 pounds and looks better than he has in years. His reducing formula: Stop worrying.
Donald O'Connor will be a busy lad between now and June. He's finishing up "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby," and will do "Curtain Call at Cactus Creek" and "Son of Robin Hood" in quick succession. Each picture requires two weeks of dance rehearsals.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Cornel Wilde didn't realize how powerful a punch he packed until he had a chance to exchange blows with Richard Widmark in one of the fight scenes in 20th Century-Fox's "Road House," which is currently at the Capitol Theatre. The two actors were slugging away at each other when Wilde came up with a right uppercut that landed on Widmark's chin, making him go down for the count. When he got up, Cornel apologized profusely.
"That's all right," Widmark replied, rubbing his jaw, "as long as I'm still in one piece." "I'm glad you are," Director Jean Negulesco put in, "because we have to do the scene over. You aren't supposed to get knocked out."

They'll Do It Every Time

Record Amount Of Life Insurance

MONTREAL — The largest amount of new life insurance issued by any Canadian life insurance company in 1948 was today reported by the Sun Life of Canada, bringing its total insurances in force, to well over the four billion dollar mark. Benefits paid to Sun Life policyholders during the year exceeded $105,000,000.

At the 78th annual meeting of the company held here, Arthur B. Wood, president, described life insurance as essentially an institution of the average citizen built up by the small savings of millions of people; an organization universally accepted because it serves a public need. The highest form of social security, he declared, can never be a government sponsored scheme. It must conform to the will of the people and be tailored to meet their varying needs. Life insurance conforms to the requirements of average citizens familiar with their own problems and able to determine for themselves the steps necessary to meet them. Furthermore, it is bought in an open and highly competitive market. On the North American continent, over 80,000,000 people have voluntarily obtained life insurance; have voluntarily planned it according to their needs, and have voluntarily selected the institution they desire to carry out their plans. The character and magnitude of the business is a reflection of public approval and a public endorsement of the sound principles on which the business is founded.

Mr. Wood, continuing, said that the new insurances written by the Sun Life for the year amounted to $374,652,000. Total life insurance in force now stands at the record figure of $4,089,000,000, an increase of $251,000,000. Total income for the year exceeded $232,000,000.

St. Alban's Observes 25th Anniversary

St. Alban's parishoners last Friday marked the 25th anniversary of the organization of their church at a dinner held in the parish hall.

Bishop Harold E. Sexton and Mrs. Sexton, and Dean R. G. Calvert and Mrs. Calvert attended the dinner which was prepared by ladies of the Guild and the W.A. The bishop and the dean both spoke of the growth and development of St. Alban's and the great future which lay before the parish.

Rev. F. E. M. Tomalin, present vicar, welcomed former members of the congregation and old timers in the parish, including two former incumbents, Rev. J. Leighton of Vancouver, and Canon Comley.

PLAZA THEATRE

A new type of barber's chair makes its appearance in "Of Mice and Men." Hal Roach's film version of the great John Steinbeck novel which is showing at the Plaza Theatre today.
The invention of Silver Tip Baker, veteran ranch hand who plays a supporting role in the production, it is composed of a broom, a length of wire and a battered old chair. The broom, wired to the back of the chair, serves as a head-rest for the unlucky customer. Hardly a Park Avenue model, it was a device well known to the seasoned ranchers of the old west.

DOMINION THEATRE
If Academy Award-winning Ray Milland has his way, one of these days he will surprise his many fans by emerging as a film director.

"I don't think it's too presumptuous for an actor to think he can do a good job of directing," says Milland whose current film, Paramount's "Sealed Verdict," is now at the Dominion Theatre. "Practically every notable director in the business was once an actor."

ATLAS THEATRE

That of asked question, "Why do studios wait so long to release a picture after it has been filmed?" is at long last answered by Otto Preminger, who directed the Darryl F. Zanuck presentation of "Forever Amber," which, starring Linda Darnell, Cornel Wilde, Richard Greene and George Sanders, now at the Atlas Theatre.
"In the first place," explained Preminger "it takes almost four months to have the sound ready. Our biggest problem, for instance, is the music. We assigned David Raksin to write the score, and while two months seems sufficiently long to do that, it's a job that would take a research specialist much longer to do."

Aces Stop K.V.'s In Rubber Game Of Series

Ron Knott's Brentwood Aces moved into the finals of the men's senior B basketball playoffs last night by whipping K.V.'s, 34 to 27, in the third game of a best-of-three final.

The suburban quintette, defeated in the first game of the series, took the second game of the playoffs by a 61 to 30 margin and qualified to meet Chinese Students by their victory last night.

The best-of-three senior B final will commence Saturday as a preliminary to the Y.M.C.A. Pro Patria senior A game.

WARRIORS WIN

In other playoff games at the High School gym, Hepcats of the Intermediate B girls' league turned back the Esquimalt Geni squad, 36 to 24, in the second game of a total-point playoff, to win the round, 60 to 42, while Warriors edged Chinese Students, 30 to 26, to advance to the boys' intermediate B finals.

Brentwood spotted K.V.'s an 11 to 7 lead in the first quarter then came storming back with a 15-point spurge in the second frame to grab a 22 to 14 margin at the half.

Though K.V.'s did at one stage manage to close the gap to three points in the third period, Brentwood's half-time edge was too much to overcome and Aces controlled the game through the fourth period, freezing the ball for the final two minutes of the game.

BENN HIGH SCORER

As in Brentwood's previous victory, Ronnie Benn was again the high point man, running up a total of 16 points.

Gordie Bamford topped K.V. marksmen with nine points, the same number garnered by Jim Turner of the Aces.

Pat Pettigrew of Esquimalt Geni romped off with scoring honors in the girls' game with 12 points. Chris Boyd paced the winners with 10.

By defeating Chinese Students, Ivan Temple's Warriors qualified to meet K.V.'s in the intermediate B finals. Bob McConkey took scoring honors with 10 points.

Teams and scores follow:

Brentwood-Benn 34, W. Benn 2, J. Turner 9, W. Turner 4, Yardley, Cruickshank, Blagden, 3, Slater. K.V.'s-Alton 27, Bamford 9, James 6, Pettigrew 12, Dyer 7, McDonald, 3, Esquimalt-Geni 36, Hill 4, Bishop 1, Clarkson, McConkey 10, Parker, Ross 3, Boyd 10, Whitten 6, Calder, Hudson 4, the Derr 5, Greig.

Geni-Benn 34, W. Benn 2, J. Turner 9, W. Turner 4, Yardley, Cruickshank, Blagden, 3, Slater. K.V.'s-Alton 27, Bamford 9, James 6, Pettigrew 12, Dyer 7, McDonald, 3, Esquimalt-Geni 36, Hill 4, Bishop 1, Clarkson, McConkey 10, Parker, Ross 3, Boyd 10, Whitten 6, Calder, Hudson 4, the Derr 5, Greig.

There will be no all-out about eating green apples or dyes in the final round of the Corbillion Cup Monday night, defeating Britain, 3 to 1.

Playing for the United States were Peggy McLean of New York, Mildred Shahan of Boston and Thelma Thall of Columbus, Ohio. The British players were Margaret Franks and L. Pinkie Barnes.

Hungary won the men's championship by defeating Czechoslovakia, 5 to 4, in the final round for the Swaythling Cup.

Eagles Point For Cage Final Tonight

The senior A men's basketball playoffs continue at the High School gym tonight, with K.V.'s facing elimination in their best-of-three semifinal series with Eagles.

Eagles, last-place finishers in the four-team senior loop, upset Harold Turner's charges, 43 to 39, in the opening game of the series while Pro Pats tumbled the Y.M.C.A., 44 to 37, in the other first game semifinal.

Winners of the series will meet in a best-of-five game final for the right to play Alberni Athletics in the Vancouver Island final.

In other games tonight, Hotshots and Hepcats clash in the first game of a best-of-three series for the city intermediate B girls' title at 7, and Warriors tangle with K.V.'s one hour later in the initial game of the boys' intermediate B final.

Willie Pep Still Confident He Can Win Over Saddler

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Willie Pep, confident of regaining his featherweight title Friday night at Madison Square Garden, admits he took Sandy Saddler too lightly last Oct. 29.

"I didn't think he was a good fighter," said Willie yesterday after a good six-round workout. It still pains him to remember the night he was flattened by spindly-legged Sandy in four rounds, losing his prized crown.

"Sure, I knew he was a turn-over southpaw," he said, "but like I said I didn't think he could fight. First thing off the bat he hit me in the eye with a left hand and I'm half blinded. Everything happened in the first round."

"I fought stronger punchers. Chalky Wright, the guy I won the title from, hit harder. But this fellow surprised me."

There will be no all-out about eating green apples or dyes in the final round of the Corbillion Cup Monday night, defeating Britain, 3 to 1.

Playing for the United States were Peggy McLean of New York, Mildred Shahan of Boston and Thelma Thall of Columbus, Ohio. The British players were Margaret Franks and L. Pinkie Barnes.

Hungary won the men's championship by defeating Czechoslovakia, 5 to 4, in the final round for the Swaythling Cup.

Amateur Boxing Officials Get Axe

LONDON (AP)—The axe has fallen on many amateur boxing referees and judges who participated in the 1948 Olympic boxing tournament.

In an official statement the Association Internationale De Boxe Amateur said it had investigated the "severe criticism of the standard of refereeing and judging" at the Olympics, and now a number of judges and referees have been downgraded.

In future the officials, whom the A.I.B.A. did not name, will not be allowed to officiate in contests "of this importance."

Cliff Thompson was sent to Hershey as a replacement for Kryzanowski, former University of Toronto star, who started the season with the Bruins.

It is likely that the Bruins also will call up forwards Zello, Topazini and Dave Creighton, who were sent to Hershey for seasoning, before the N.H.L.'s Thursday deadline.

Moose Jaw Gains In Struggle For Junior Ice Crown

Calgary Buffaloes today still are atop the Western Canada Junior Hockey League, but Moose Jaw Canucks have edged to within two points of them.

Buff took a trip to Medicine Hat, Alta., last night to eke out a 5 to 5 overtime tie with Medicine Hat Tigers. Canucks trimmed Regina Pats 6 to 4 to stay alone in second place in the loop.

Torchy Pechet paced Canucks with three goals while Harvey Stein scored twice and Lawrence Popein tallied once. Lorne Davis sparked Pats with two markers and Ken Barlow and Greig Greenough took credit for the other two.

Canucks took a 3 to 1 lead in the first period, made it 4 to 3 at the end of the second stanza and outscored the home club 2 to 1 in the final frame.

In Medicine Hat, Buffs and Tigers were deadlocked 1 to 1 at the end of the opening session, but Tigers jumped ahead 4 to 2 in the middle session. Buffs had to stage a three-goal drive in the third period to knot the count.

Merv Clouston, Doug Hage, Bob Holmes, Gerrie Barre and Bernie Petrie counted goals for Tigers. Johnny Michaluk paced Buffs with two; others going to Ross Tryell, Sid Finney and Setele.

Wrestlers Return Saturday; Team Match Lined Up

Promoter Rocky Brooks announced today he is arranging a top-notch wrestling card for presentation at the Armories Saturday night. Brooks also stated the grapplers would be seen in action four successive week-ends.

Another tag team match will highlight Saturday's program. Partnered in one corner will be Whitey Wahlburg and Sugi Yamakawa, a Japanese judo expert. Recognized as a good workman, Yamakawa has proven popular with wrestling fans all over the northwest.

Opposing the pair will be a couple of grapplers who like to play rough, Tony Ross and Buck Davidson. The latter is another newcomer to the local ring. Rated one of the roughest boys in the business, Davidson should prove an ideal partner for Ross.

Additional bouts will be announced later in the week. The show will start at 8.30.

Record Entry Seeks Barbara Ann's Title

OTTAWA (CP)—Renewed interest in figure skating is being shown in the capital as entries pile in for the Canadian figure skating championships Feb. 18-19 when a successor to Barbara Ann Scott will be crowned.

Charles H. Cumming, secretary of the Canadian Figure Skating Association, today reported the biggest entry in the 35-year history of the championships. A record total of 19 girls are entered for the junior women's event.

The junior men's entry of nine is also considered large and there are 11 contenders for the senior women's title, as well as five for the senior men. There are three entries for senior pairs.

Some of the leading contenders for the title which, Miss Scott abandoned to turn professional, are Jeanne Mathew, 17, of Vancouver; Suzanne Morrow, 18, of Toronto; and Marlene Smith, 17, of Niagara Falls.

WESTERN CHAMPION Miss Matthews, who started skating seven years ago on rented blades, is the western Canada champion and finished second to Barbara Ann in the Canadian

Yankees Will Pay Out $90,000 To DiMaggio

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices are coming down and so are baseball salaries, but Joe DiMaggio, Bobby Feller, Walker Cooper and Ralph Kiner won't go hungry this year.

DiMaggio especially won't have any trouble keeping the wolf from the door. The New York Yankee star, along with Feller, Kiner and Cooper, agreed to terms yesterday. DiMaggio was the only one of the four, however, who admittedly received a raise.

The Yankee clipper signed a one-year contract which experts believe will net him $90,000. Neither DiMaggio nor Yankee officials would reveal the exact terms.

DiMaggio said it was "by far the best contract I ever had." Yankee president Dan Topping said DiMaggio got a one-year contract and a raise.

The signing took place in the Yanks' plush Manhattan office in the third session between DiMaggio and the club. Reports had DiMaggio asking for a flat $100,000 document which would have made him the highest-paid player of all time.

ATTENDANCE BONUS

DiMaggio's contract is said to call for a base pay of $60,000 plus a series of bonuses based on the club's home gate.

Feller, who agreed to terms offered by Cleveland president Bill Veeck Sunday night, will make it official this afternoon in Cleveland by signing the form.

The big right-hander has agreed to take at least a $10,000 cut but he won't have to worry about the source of next month's rent.

Feller will receive the same base pay as last year—$40,000, and bonuses based on home attendance.

Kiner, slugging star of Pittsburgh Pirates, signed a one-year contract calling for around $30,000. Exact terms are unknown but a club source said Kiner's contract "always has contained a bonus arrangement." Kiner has either led or been tied for the National League's home-run leadership the past three years.

Cooper, hard-hitting catcher for New York Giants, had been asked to take a $7,500 cut from his $30,000 salary of 1948, but he balked. A compromise is figured to give Cooper around $25,000.

Tips On Golf Rules

By ROBERT FOULIS
Tip No. 96

CASUAL WATER IN BUNKER. BALL WITHIN 20 YARDS OF HOLE

Here is a tip worth remembering: A player's ball is within 20 yards of the hole and is in bad rough. Between the ball and the hole there is a bunker which, owing to the heavy rains and a blocked drain, is full of water. The player lifts his ball from the bad lie to the nearest place, but not nearer the hole, where no water intervenes between ball and hole. This happens to be the green where he places the ball and has a simple putt to the hole. —Francis, U.S.G.A.

N.B.—The putting green is all ground, except hazards, within 20 yards of the hole being played. See definition 10. As the ball was not in the hazard the player was allowed to move it without penalty. See Rule 27 (3). If the ball is more than 20 yards from the hole and if the water interferes with the player's stance it may be moved without penalty. See Rule 27 (4). "Drop" on fairway, "place" on green.

In a case like the above where a player thinks he may be within 20 yards of the hole, it would be interesting to see him try to measure it.

Janiro, Graham Drop Fights With Britons

LONDON (AP)—Two United States welterweights lost decisions on a big build-up, trans-Atlantic fight card last night and some London sports writers said today they had been "oversold."

Over 10 rounds each, Tony Janiro of Youngstown, O., bowed to the British welter champion, Henry Hall of Sheffield, and Billy Graham of New York lost to Welshman Eddie Thomas, a coal miner.

On the same upset-studded card, the world flyweight champion, Rinty Monaghan of Belfast, dropped an eight-round, non-title decision to Terry Allen of London.

Promoter Jack Solomons had put Janiro and Graham on the bill in a tryout of the new American-import policy made possible through a deal with the 20th Century Sporting Club of New York.

Solomons couldn't help being pleased—he sold all of Harrington Arena's 10,500 seats. But he left without telling reporters what he thought of the visitors' showing or the crowds' reaction.

There was some booing when Referee Teddy Waltham pronounced Hall winner over Janiro. But James Butler of the Daily Herald wrote that neither Graham nor Janiro "lived up to the reputations that preceded them and neither displayed any outstanding talent."

KNOCKOUT FOR CHARLES
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ezzard Charles looked forward today to a possible June title match with Joe Louis, and back to a close shave against 214-pound Johnny Haynes of New York.

Charles, 179-pound, Cincinnati, had one of the narrowest escapes of his ring career last night in beating Haynes via a knockout at 2:38 of the eighth round in their scheduled 10-rounder.

Charles converted his speed and bounce into victory with a right uppercut that knocked Haynes flat on his back. Haynes got to one knee at eight but stayed there as he was counted out.

A minute before, Haynes had been bombarding Charles across the ring with a series of slashing rights to the head. It appeared that Charles was on the way to defeat.

But Charles had too much ring know-how for that and marshalled his strength for the one blow that won the fight.

Charles has a chance to increase his stature when he takes on Joey Maxim of Cleveland Feb. 28. Maxim is a fancy boxer and may be able to stay with Charles in the matter of ring technique. But he doesn't have Charles' punch.

Haynes had the punch, but not the technique.

Joe Louis has both.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, who probably is baseball's highest-paid player, claims he never did more than one day's work outside of baseball.

"I worked one day in an orange-juice factory and collected $3.20," says Joe. As a kid, he adds, he sold newspapers (the still does in another way), but he couldn't match brother Dom's efforts in that line.

"I used to average about $1.50 a day. Dom worked harder and made as much as $2.50," DiMaggio admits. "I used to try to talk him out of a half-buck to even things up, but he was just as tough about money as George Weiss."

Roy Harney, Pittsburgh Pirates general manager, would like to get Brooklyn's Branch Rickey alone long enough to make a deal for Carl Furillo.

CLEANING THE CUFF

When the Giants signed Ford Smith, their first negro pitcher, they listed his age as approximately 26, admitting they didn't know exactly. Now comes the word that Smith played two years of football at Phoenix, Arizona, junior college, the last in 1936. That would make him something over 26 or mighty young for a junior college football player. —Harry Mendel reports that Joe Louis outdrew comedian Bob Hope, 12,600 to 10,100 at the Miami Orange Bowl at twice the prices Bob charged. —Hope (or his script writer) is the guy who tabs basketball George Mikan as "one of those control towers that breathes."

Oak Bay Police Chief Reports Increase In 1948 Court Cases

A slight increase in the number of court cases in Oak Bay during 1948, as compared with 1947, was reported by Police Chief H. C. F. Reston at a meeting of the municipal police commission. There were 178 cases, involving 172 persons, heard during 1948.

Fines in 1948 totaled $1,704, compared with a total of $1,487 in 1947. A considerable drop from $8,290 in 1947 to $2,771 in 1948 in collection by the police department is accounted for by the fact the police no longer collect trades, dog and other license fees.

In 1948, police attended to 4,192 miscellaneous reports, as compared with 4,491 in 1947. Only three people were injured in the 38 reportable accidents which occurred in 1948. Seven teen drivers were convicted of dangerous driving.

Value of property reported stolen totaled $10,290, including jewelry worth $5,700, and three cars and an automobile valued at $2,150. Recovered was $3,850 worth of stolen property, including the cars and automobile.

Eleven cases of breaking and entering were reported. Five of these were believed to be the work of a single burglar.

Of the total number, 93 were males and 85 females. There were 61 persons buried last year who were between 70 and 80 years of age at death; 49 between 80 and 90; 23 between 60 and 70; 14 between 40 and 60; 11 between 90 and 100; one over 100.

Nine stillborn babies were buried during the year and seven infants under one year.

There were more burials in March—19—than in any other month. February was next highest with 17, and October had one less.

Of the 178 persons buried, 45 were born in B.C., 33 in other parts of Canada, 62 in England, 11 in Scotland, seven in Ireland, 11 in the United States.

Pianist Finds Solace In Music After Sufferings In Concentration Camp

By JIM McKEACHIE

It sounded like a movie story—but Mme. Maryla Jonas, renowned concert pianist, overcame a psychological barrier against playing the piano built up through suffering in a German concentration camp and is now being acclaimed all over the United States and Canada.

Mme. Jonas, who plays at the Royal Theatre tonight, does not dwell on memories of her 325-mile walk from a concentration camp in Poland to Berlin, her escape to Brazil, and learning of the death of her husband, parents and a brother. She quietly but sadly mentions it, then says that music is now her whole life.

The plump, blonde pianist has accepted that which has happened, and is after three years on this continent rebuilding her life and happiness.

GUILT COMPLEX

"For a long time I could not play the piano—they said it was some sort of guilt complex resulting from the suffering of my loved ones in Poland. It was finally overcome, and now music is everything. In it I can find warmth and love—I want those who hear me to love me—I want them to enjoy my music," Mme. Jonas said sincerely.

She likes Victoria. It reminds her more of her beloved Poland than the United States, where, she says, everything is too fast. "I have little chance for privacy—I went for a walk this morning and saw some of your city. It is beautiful—the window arrangements in the stores—the salesgirls—they are more like home—they do not have this artificial sophistication you see so much in the United States. 'Just look around you,' she said, waving her hand around the lobby of the Empress Hotel. 'This atmosphere you would never get in the United States.'"

"BRAVO, BRAVO"

Speaking with a definite but pleasing accent, and expressing herself almost as much with her hands as with her lips, Mme. Jonas, when it was suggested to her that she would not be able to make many permanent friends while touring, exclaimed, "Bravo, bravo—that is it exactly. I must make friends by playing—my audience I try to make love me."

Mme. Jonas, who speaks 11 languages, learned English when she came to the United States from South America in 1946. She remained in South America from 1941 to 1946, and even now cannot return to Poland because she says she is on the "black list."

The 37-year-old pianist protests being made the greatest interpreter of Chopin today. "It takes away from an artist to be tied to one composer like that—I am as much at home with Mr. Mozart, Mr. Schubert or Mr. Bach and all the rest," she said.

In 1946, Mme. Jonas gave her first concert in Carnegie Hall, New York.

Only about 250 people were present. But some of the reviewers acclaimed her to such an extent that when she played there again five weeks later, it was a sell-out, and it has been the same ever since when she plays there.

William Crossman, Dies In 91st Year

Maj. Fred Howlett will conduct funeral services Friday afternoon at 2 in the Salvation Army Citadel. Interment will be in the family plot at Colwood with McCall Bros. in charge of arrangements.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. A. Edmonds of Victoria and four sons, William, in England; James, Victoria; Albert, Chicago; Harry, New Zealand. There is a brother in England and a sister, Mrs. A. Stewart in Victoria. Two daughters-in-law, Mrs. T. Crossman and Mrs. M. Crossman, both of Victoria, also survive.

Upkeep of the grounds cost $22,584. The remainder of the total sum was made up of repairs, furniture and supplies, taxes, insurance, salary of housekeeper and sundries.

Liquor Sale Of $55,249,375 Sets Record For Province

British Columbians spent a record $55,249,375 on beers and liquors during the 1947-48 fiscal year, the Liquor Control Board and indications are this record will be broken again during the fiscal year to end next March 31.

The annual report of the Liquor Control Board presented to the Provincial Legislature this afternoon showed the sales increased by $7,287,860 in the last fiscal year over the previous fiscal year.

A statement for the six months ending last Sept. 30 showed sales at $27,451,301. This compares with sales of $26,257,720 for the corresponding six months of the previous fiscal year.

This indicates that the sales for the current fiscal year will be about $60,000,000.

ALL-HIGH REVENUE

The record sales brought the Provincial government a record revenue during the 1947-48 fiscal year of $16,588,430. The net profits for the six months ended Sept. 30, 1948, were $8,122,991.

During the 1947-48 fiscal year two new government liquor stores were opened, at Alberni and Wells. Stocks on hand at last March 31, 1948, totaled $3,546,981, an increase of $533,323.

"While liquor was in greater supply than during the past few years, nevertheless it was difficult to maintain supplies of many lines, particularly Scotch whisky and imported ales and stout," said the report.

A breakdown of the sales showed the value of spirits sold during the 1947-48 fiscal year at $31,398,642 compared with $26,963,921 for the previous fiscal year. Liqueurs, cocktails, vermouth and bitters sold during the last fiscal year were valued at $419,088, a jump from $226,063 during the previous fiscal year.

WINE SALES

The wine sales were listed in two groups. In the empire section sales were listed at $1,250,881 for the last fiscal year, compared with $990,004 for the previous fiscal year. Other wine sales were listed at $530,317 for the last fiscal year, compared with $415,850 for the 1946-47 fiscal year. During the 1947-48 fiscal year B.C. wines were sold to the value of $912,138.

Sales of beers, ales and stout during the 1947-48 year totaled $21,650,445, compared with $19,366,674 for the previous fiscal year.

The breakdown of the 1947-48 statistics showed that of the total $20,907,868 was B.C. produced beer, ale and stout. Of this total $12,618,332 was sold to licensees, including beer parlors and clubs, while $8,289,536 was sold by the Liquor Control Board's stores.

During the 1947-48 fiscal year B.C. liquor drinkers paid $9,742,431 in duty, excise and sales taxes to the federal government.

College Students Plan All-French Program With Play

A modern one-act comedy will headline an all-French program to be presented March 4 by students of French at Victoria College.

The play, by Tristan Bernard, who died a year ago in Paris, is produced frequently at the Comedie Francaise.

Since three of the characters are English people trying to speak French with the aid of an interpreter who does not know a word of English, the comedy is comprehensible in a large part to those who might feel their school French is a bit rusty.

Dr. Harry Hickman of the college's modern language department, said the venture is being made possible through the efforts and co-operation of Dr. Edouard Sonet who recently moved to Victoria after retiring as head of the French Department at the University of Alberta.

Dr. Sonet for years directed students in lively and successful performance of French comedies.

Proceeds from the program will go to a fund for reconstruction of the University of Caen in Normandy.

Says Aluminum Company Will Only Expand Where Wanted

The history of the aluminum industry, with emphasis on its development in Canada, was traced by McNeeley DuBose, vice-president of the Aluminum Company of Canada, in an address at a meeting of the Canadian Club Monday in the Empress Hotel.

The speaker made only brief reference to the possibility of his company establishing an aluminum reduction plant in B.C. even though this matter has been under discussion with Provincial authorities for more than a year.

Billed to speak on "Power and Aluminum in B.C." Mr. DuBose changed the title of his address to "Power and Aluminum in Canada," remarking: "We shall leave for some other occasion the wishful thinking we have for British Columbia."

He did say, however, his company would only expand where electrical power was plentiful and cheap; where bauxite could be mined or brought in by ship, and where the government and the people were friendly toward the company.

PEOPLE MUST WANT US

On this last point, Mr. DuBose said: "We must be assured the government and the people want us. Where we go we do not want the people after 20 years to say we came in and seized their resources."

The aluminum company is well received in Quebec, where its present plants are located, the speaker said. The eastern province has reason to be satisfied, he explained, since the company has turned $500,000,000 back into the province in taxes in less than 50 years.

In reviewing the history of aluminum production, Mr. DuBose said the method of extracting the metal from the oxide was not discovered until the latter half of the 19th century.

The first aluminum plant in North America, he continued, was not established until 1888. This plant, located in Pittsburgh, turned out aluminum at $5.20 a pound.

By increasing production the plant eventually brought the price of its product down to $1 a pound but even then sales were not good. As a last resort to make their business pay, company officials turned out aluminum cooking utensils which were peddled door-to-door.

MALICIOUS RUMOR

"The stores wouldn't handle aluminum ware at first because of a malicious and unfounded rumor that if you ate anything cooked in aluminum, you would get cancer," Mr. DuBose said.

Sales went fairly well, however, and the pot and pan business provided the company with its first income.

Production of aluminum in Canada started in 1900. The industry has grown steadily until today it has the world's largest aluminum plant which uses 1,000,000 horse-power units of electricity and employs close to 75,000 workmen.

At the present time, Mr. DuBose said, there is an unbelievable demand for aluminum. More than 90 per cent of the aluminum produced in Canada, in fact, is marketed elsewhere.

The speaker was introduced by Mines Minister E. T. Kenney and thanked by Walter Miles, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Retires After 19½ Years As Fireman

After 19 years of service as a firefighter with the Saanich Fire Department, Deputy Chief Frank V. Miller, 1284 East Astoria Avenue, has retired.

His retirement was observed by the presentation of a chest of silverware from members of the department. Mr. Miller says he is going to take things easy for a time.

DAMAGE IS LIGHT

Galpin, 960 Admirals Road, and continued on to hit a vehicle coming in the opposite direction in charge of Arthur Knapp, 311 Foul Bay Road.
